In the marching contest the Bay High Band, moving on to the field in sixth position, went through its snappy maneuvers with precision and scored in the second division of rating, Excellent. For the first time in band contest history, no band competing on the field scored lower than excellent.

It is hoped that with the installation of these new air conditioned coaches between New Orleans and the Gulf Coast that they will be patronized by our friends and patrons in order to make this new type of service a success and justify the considerable expense involved in providing and maintaining this type of service on commuter trains.

The above announcement was made by Ira F. Schwelgel, General Passenger Agent of the L & N, and will be received joyously by both patrons and friends of the railroad, especially commuters between here and New Orleans.

JACK LANDRY PLACES FIRST IN TWIRLING CONTEST AT JACKSON

Saint Stanislaus Band Rates "Excellent" in Marching And "Good" in Concert Work.

A dispatch from Jackson from Brother Romuald, Band director of the Saint Stanislaus Band, announces that Jack Landry, Senior Drum Major, placed first in the Baton Twirling Contest. In the marching contest, on the field of Millsaps College, last night, the little S. S. C. Band received the rating of "Excellent." The concert in the afternoon was awarded the rating "Good."

Although not attaining the heights of previous years Brother Romuald expresses himself as well pleased considering the ill luck which overtook the band in the last week of practice. Several of the members were out due to an attack of sickness, and four of his seasoned veterans were forced to stay at home when the band pulled out Wednesday morning.

Miss Lucy Weston Places High in Iris Queen Festival.

Miss Lucy Weston daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weston who attended the Iris Festival in Shreveport, La., as the representative of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club, gave close competition to the number of contestants from garden clubs throughout cities in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi and ran a close second for the place of Iris Queen which was won by Miss Frances Raye Alexander of Natchitoches, La.

In the final judging, it was found so difficult to decide between the three young ladies who were most attractive, that the three names were placed in a hat and the name of Miss Alexander was drawn, a matter of luck as each of the three contestants were eligible for first place.

Miss Weston was accompanied to Shreveport by Paul Lacoste, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lacoste, whom she chose as her escort and Mr. and Mrs. George R. Rea chaperoning the party and visiting with friends in Shreveport. Miss Weston states the affair was one of the loveliest she ever attended and one which the entire party enjoyed immensely.

Increase of 52 Per Cent In Oldsmobile Sales For First Ten Days In April.

An increase of 52 per cent in Oldsmobile sales for the first ten days of April over this period last year was announced in Lansing, yesterday, by D. E. Ralston, Oldsmobile's general sales manager. From April first to tenth, inclusive, a total of 6363 Sixes and Eights were sold at retail this year compared to 4184 cars a year ago, Ralston stated.

Oldsmobile sales from January first to April tenth now total 51,122 cars and show a gain of more than 34 per cent over the 37,282 cars sold a year ago.

"Although Oldsmobile's acceptance has been nationwide, and dealers have reported substantial sales gains during every month since our new cars were announced last fall," said Ralston, "the increase made since the first of April is most noteworthy. Much of this fine record can be attributed, I feel to Oldsmobile's extensive newspaper campaign now in progress throughout the country plus the concerted efforts of our dealer body. It is indicative too, of a very good Spring and Summer selling season," he added.

Ralston also stated that reports from Oldsmobile dealers revealed a big demand for used cars.

Gulf Park College Annual Spring Festival "In India" May Third.

Gulf Park College will present its annual spring festival on May 3rd in the outdoor setting on the campus. The performance this year will be a colorful operetta entitled "In India" which will be supplemented by several dance units, tumblers, etc., this performance being preceded by the crowning of the Gulf Park May Queen.

A large outdoor stage has been constructed for this presentation upon which most of the action will take place. The costuming will be especially beautiful and colorful and the music tuneful and sparkling. The scene for the operetta is laid in a village, Fishni, on the banks of the Ganges river. The occasion is the day of "Hu" (Festival of Flowers) named after the God of Flowers "Ahu".

On this occasion it is the custom to choose a temple dancing-girl, who must be the most beautiful girl in the village and at the same time an orphan. Meerah is selected for this honor but a beggar who passes thru the village, following a procession, proves to be the mother of Meerah. There being no other orphan in the village, How-Now, generally disliked by all for her jealous nature and her objectionable character is carried off by the priestesses to be a slave in the temple and the reunited mother and daughter join the others in celebrating the festival day.

A NEW WORLD AHEAD.

WHAT type of economic system will dominate the commerce of the world when the fighting ends?

The question is getting some attention from officials who have to think about the future as they meet the problems of the present.

If Germany wins, it is plain that there will be a few self-sufficient units. Germany will dominate Europe, Russia will control an immense area and Japan will boss the Far East. In the Western Hemisphere the United States will be in a position of dominance in the Americas.

How the economic blocs will trade with each other is unknown except on a limited scale, probably based on bartering arrangements. Whether they will trade with each other is doubtful, particularly if the blocs continue their rivalry to achieve greater domination of neighboring areas.

PER CAPITA AND REAL INCOME.

FIGURES recently released by the Department of Commerce indicate that the per capita income of individuals in the United States in 1938 amounted to $515 for the nation as a whole.

It is interesting to note that the average per capita income moved from $376 in 1933 to $515 in 1938, and that this figure compares with $679 in 1929.

It should not be forgotten, however, that income, measured in dollars, does not always represent the real income of individuals. This depends upon the buying power of the dollars received. If dollar income moves upward but prices increase faster, then an increase in income does not mean an increase in real income. Likewise, if dollar income declines, but prices drop faster, the real income or buying power of the individual increases.

EXPERIENCE FOR DENMARK.

IT must be comforting to the Danish people to understand, from the lips of Gen. Leonard Kaunisch, commander of the German invaders, that the German soldiers "have come as friends."

It may be pleasing to know that the Nazis "have no desire to kill friends like the Danes," even if it is disquieting to be told that "naturally nothing must happen that is counter to German interests."

Less than a year ago the Danes entered into a solemn treaty with Herr Hitler, both parties promising not to violate the territory of the other. The non-aggression pact, signed to demonstrate to the world that small nations were not threatened by Hitler's regime, was worth less than a scrap of paper when Germany decided to take over Denmark.

TREACHERY IN NORWAY.

IT seems to be fairly well established that the German invasion of Norway was the result of treachery on the part of Norwegians in key positions at certain vital places.

At Narvik and at Oslo, it seems, the commander of the Norwegian forces was in league with Germany. The warships at each port were ordered not to fight. Consequently, the Nazis made easy conquests.

It may be proved later that similar treachery had something to do with the easy conquest of other ports. Certainly, these revelations make it easier to understand the willingness of Hitler to risk his expeditions in the face of British naval superiority.

This is the time of the year that Nature makes you think she is grand.

If Abraham Lincoln were alive, he would probably have something to say about a world half democratic and half totalitarian.

The coasts of Norway, last week, saw the first real test of sea power and air power and from what happened it seems good to have a navy.

Advertising renders a service to the buyer as well as the seller; successful merchants remember this when they write their advertisements.

It might be a good idea to have a Parents' Week, during which the youngsters of the family will permit father and mother to use the family automobile and go out nights for a good time.

Vieing in interest with the Mississippi Legislature in Jackson this week is the band contests being staged by all the school bands of the state with daily parades down Capitol Street. The contests will end Saturday, April 27th. These contests will draw approximately 10,000 visitors to the Capital City.

This week, April 22-27 is being celebrated in Mississippi and throughout the Nation as "This Work Pays Your Community." The purpose of this Nation-wide activity is to acquaint the people of our state with the accomplishments of the activities being carried on by the Division of Professional and Service Projects of the Works Progress Administration in the various communities of the State.

MISSISSIPPI PRESS ASSOCIATION CONVENTION.

SEVERAL speakers of well known reputation will appear on the program at the 74th annual convention of the Mississippi Press Association at Hotel Buena Vista in Biloxi, June 6th, 7th, and 8th according to an announcement released by President Stokes Sanders of Kosciusko today. The Association Board of Governors is now working out plans for one of the most interesting and entertaining sessions in recent years.

Mayor Louis Braun, Dr. Riley W. Burnette, President, and Anthony V. Ragusin, Secretary of the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce; Forrest M. Runnels of the Hotel Buena Vista and Hermes Gautier of Pascagoula will be official hosts to the convention. Officers and members of the Rotary Club, Business Men's Club, Exchange Club, Pilots Club and Lions Club of Biloxi are also planning to help entertain members of the Press while in Biloxi. The Mississippi Press Association has not had a convention in Biloxi for several years and officers and members are looking forward with much anticipation to the pleasure of again visiting the historic city, one of the outstanding resort centers of the entire south.

The convention registration desk will open at Hotel Buena Vista Thursday afternoon June 6 and the convention proper will begin Friday morning with a business session.

It was also announced that Hermes Gautier of Pascagoula was planning a motorcade for members of the Press to visit the Southern Kraft Paper Mill at Moss Point and the Ingall Ship Yards at Pascagoula on Saturday afternoon. Other special entertainment features are also being planned including a joint Press Association-Biloxi Civic Club luncheon for Friday. The annual election of officers will be held Friday afternoon at a business session followed by a press banquet and dance Friday night.

THE CENSUS—MEN AND WOMEN.

NOW they are guessing who will be ahead in the coming census report—men or women. Insurance figures seem to back the prediction that sooner or later the women will win out. Baby girls have better life expectancy than boys. Women are living longer than men. The last census found more men than women in the United States, but the ratio was decreasing, states the Jackson Daily News.

From the dawn of history it has amused philosophers and imaginative writers to toy with the idea of feminine control of human affairs. Some joker may break in at this point and say it has already been achieved. Insofar as that is true, it is by indirection. That women have vastly extended their influence in nearly every phase of life is a tribute to their subtlety and must not be overlooked in making long-time forecasts.

Mere change in birth rate and life expectancy will be slow factors in relieving men of world management. But war, most convincing or convicting, evidence of man's mismanagement, may hurry the revolution. First, invention of deadly war machinery and methods may make speedy clean-up of masculinity. Then widespread devastation making impossible maintenance of homes may hasten the day when motherhood will assert its rights. By that time there may be enough feminine predominance to take crazy masculinity by the ear and shut it in the basement while the women restore order to the universe.

A BOW TO THE 4-H CLUBS.

THE value of the work of the 4-H Clubs in the United States can hardly be overestimated. Since the work began in 1914, more than eight million boys and girls, from ten to twenty years of age, have learned by actual practice improved methods in home-making and farming.

It is interesting to note that 4-H Club enrollment in 1939 reached 1,381,500 boys and girls, 555,600 of them joining the clubs in 1939. The influence of this club association upon the lives of rural boys and girls compares with that of the Boy and Girl Scouts in metropolitan centers.

There are hundreds of boys and girls in Hancock county who have enjoyed membership in some 4-H Club. They are better citizens today because of their participation in club activities, undoubtedly are better fitted for life itself and, besides, they have enjoyed themselves immensely.

The Echo takes pleasure in extending its congratulations to all members of the 4-H Clubs in this county. We would assure them that they belong to a worthwhile organization, doing an up and coming work. Throughout the nation, the 4-H Clubs are recognized as one of the finest organizations in the land and the boy or girl who is lucky enough to belong to a 4-H Club should be proud of his, or her, membership and the opportunity that it presents.

MIDGET ENGINES FOR AUTOMOBILE

A NEW motor fuel, possessing twice the combustible power for engines, has been developed.

This makes possible the reduction of automobile engines to half the present size but the change won't occur in the near future because the new fuel has a laboratory cost of $50 a gallon.

Still, one never can tell when it will be reduced in price. A short time ago the cost per gallon was $3.600. If it goes on down, and the combination of scientific skill and mass production is not to be denied, midget engines will begin propelling our modern motor cars.

Fifteen foreign corporations have qualified in the office of Secretary of State Walker Wood during the first 18 days of this month the majority of these being oil companies and allied corporations. These fifteen corporations listed a total capitalization of $26,560,940.00. During the same 18 days 30 domestic corporations have filed their charters, the largest being that of renewal of the Charter of Lintonia Building and Loan Association, Yazoo City, with a capital of $1,000,000.00.

Hollywood Notes.

BEFORE the era of the sound pictures, the professional "life expectancy" of screen stars was an average of eight years. However, there are many stars today who are enjoying increasing popularity who have been before the cameras with star billings for from ten to as many as twenty-six years.

Charlie Chaplin, whose newest picture, "The Dictator," will be released soon, will shortly mark his twenty-sixth year in stellar roles. Although if he doesn't appear more often, there will be many among the younger generation who won't know who he is. Next to Chaplin in stardom is Harold Lloyd, who recently retired from acting to become a producer.

Among the feminine stars, Joan Crawford leads the list, having burst into stardom in "Sally, Irene and Mary," and now enters her sixteenth year as a top performer. Among the runners-up for length of service in stardom are Greta Garbo, 14 years; Norma Shearer, 13 years; Constance Bennett, her sister, Joan; Claudette Colbert and Barbara Stanwyck, about ten years each.

There's an unusual demand in Hollywood these days for boy actors between the ages of nine and thirteen. MGM is about to abandon the production of "The Yearling," because they haven't found the right 12-year-old. Columbia wants two smart youngsters for "Arizona," while Twentieth Century-Fox is looking for a pair of 10-year-olds to play important roles in Shirley Temple's new picture. Paramount considers itself lucky in its recent find of Billy Lee, who made such a decided hit in "The Biscuit Eater."

During a scene in "I Want A Divorce," Joan Blondell was called upon to munch a chicken leg. Then it was discovered that Miss Blondell was allergic to dark meat. Result: A studio chef ground up the meat from chicken breasts, mixed it in a creamy flour paste, stuck the ingredients onto leg joints, browned them in an oven to a tantalizing crisp and presto, everything was okay and production proceeded.

To avoid the appearance of cribbing on her famous sister's laurels, Jane Lindsey, sister of Margaret, change her name to Jane Gilbert. She makes her screen debut in "Till We Meet Again."

Ronald Coleman sings his first song in movies in his picture with Ginger Rogers, "Lucky Partner." To be sure it will be all right, he is taking music lessons.

An interested spectator on the set of "Northwest Mounted Police" during the filming of love scenes between Gary Cooper and Madeline Carroll, was Mrs. Gary Cooper. Cooper didn't seem to mind a bit, but it made Miss Carroll so nervous that she blew her lines—until Mrs. Cooper left the set.

Howard Hughes wants Ginger Rogers for the leading feminine role in his forthcoming picture, about which the strictest secrecy is maintained. It is expected, however, to be an aviation epic on the scale of "Hell's Angels."

Paul Whiteman and his band will appear in "Second Chorus," to be made soon by Boris Morros.

Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor are co-starred in Ethel Vance's story of German concentration camps, "Escape," which is being produced by MGM. Miss Shearer will play the Countess Von Treck and Taylor will be seen as Mark Preysing.

No Military Obligation In Attending Citizens Military Training Camp.

The purpose of these camps is to bring together young men from all walks of life, and from all sections, on a common basis of equality, to teach these young men the privileges, duties and responsibilities of citizenship; to stimulate patriotism, self discipline and team work, and to develop the physical and moral standards of American Youth, thru participation in military exercises, supervised athletics and sports. Men who have been trained at these camps are no more liable to be called to the colors than any other man not so trained. The benefit the government receives is that its young men develop into better citizens.

Good food, regular hours and outdoor exercises are the reasons that young men gain weight and vigor during a C. M. T. Camp. Character and tolerance are developed by contact with young men from other parts of the country. A trainee is given responsibility and learns the difficulties and the satisfaction of leadership.

Opportunity still exists for young men between the ages of 17 and 24 years to submit application, become fully qualified for camp and to be accepted for camp. However, Fort Barrancas can train only a limited number and candidates are accepted in the order that they become qualified. Those who are interested should apply to either their county representative, Mr. S. J. Ingram of Bay High School, or to the C. M. T. Camp Area Commander, Fort Barrancas, Florida.

The Fort Barrancas Citizens' Military Training Camp opens on June 12, 1940, for one month.

THE GARDEN OF ROSES.

On a terrace 'way up high, Beneath a southern sky, Is a garden of roses rare, Planted with loving care.

Amidst them to welcome All the strangers who come With His hands outstretched, Stands the Sacred Heart.

It is only a statue Made of marble and bronze, But in the center it represents Our Savior, the Sacred Heart.

Two trellises are there placed With very artistic taste, Upon which, all the roses Climb fast, as in a race.

The good old Southern sun Helps the lovely roses climb, Up and up the tiny steps, And having fun, sublime.

The canopy of night Pinned by the stars so bright, And the moon, looks down at ease Upon this nature's masterpiece.

The cooling breezes sway The heat of the summer day, And all the roses swing, As though they are in play.

But when the sun does sink, The silver moon peeps out, And every sleepy man retires, The dew on the petals, Kisses the roses goodnight, And kindles them with vivid fires.

DARRYL F. ZANUCK'S PRODUCTION "LITTLE OLD NEW YORK" At A. & G. Theater, Sunday And Monday, 28-29.

The boisterous town of the good old days, when cowboys roamed Fifth Avenue and a barmy—or a lady—could win a man like Robert Fulton, are brought vividly to life on the screen in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Little Old New York," the 20th Century-Fox film, which comes to the A. & G. Theater Sunday and Monday, April 28-29, with Alice Faye, Fred MacMurray, Richard Greene and Brenda Joyce heading a splendid cast.

This robust, romantic drama casts Alice Faye in her most colorful role as the fiery belle of the waterfront who fell headlong for handsome Robert Fulton—and went after him, while the whole bawling waterfront cheered her on.

MacMurray is seen as the burly shipbuilder engaged to build the Clermont, after Fulton's model for the first steamboat. Greene is seen as the dashing inventor himself, and blonde Brenda Joyce has the role of the lovely girl who loved him, helped him to attain his dream in the face of ridicule, and who later became his wife.

Others prominently featured in the cast are Andy Devine, Henry Stephenson and Fritz Feld.

For the exterior sequences of the production, the studio built on its north lot the biggest harbor ever seen in Hollywood. The marine basin covered three acres. It was excavated to a depth of seven feet and filled with 5,000,000 gallons of water—a job that took three months in itself.

King directed "Little Old New York" from a screen play by Harry Tugend. The story by John Balfour was based upon a play by Rida Johnson Young. Raymond Griffith was associate producer.

On the 11th day of April, 1938 the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, proceeding under the authority of Section 631 of the Mississippi Code of 1930, as amended, and as required by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, approved March 18th, 1938, did adopt a certain resolution entitled:

Roses—Their Care And Attention.

Roses profited materially by the extreme cold of the past winter and in consequence, roses blooming so profusely now are more beautiful than ever.

One of the worst troubles rose growers experience is "blackspot," the effect of attacks on foliage by fungus organisms and which mars the appearance of rose bushes completely. This pest can be prevented in this climate by dusting or spraying plants with sulphur until the middle of May and then using a spray containing copper during the hot weather. Since fungus attacks cannot be cured but must be prevented, the dusting or spraying ought to be a regular part of the gardener's routine.

Roses are, and always have been, such generally favorite flowers that applying such a word as fashion seems incorrect. And yet it is obvious that tastes have changed and popularity has shifted from one kind of rose to another during the last hundred years. Back in the 1830s, the moss rose was the great favorite. Another rose listed as being popular in the old days was called the Black Favorite, a white rose the exact opposite of its name. Also popular were the Venus, Madame Hardy and Unique, all white roses whose records date back as far as 1777.

A beautiful color arrangement was made at Bellingrath Gardens by placing potted hydrangeas of many different shades of blue and lavender, with some white ones, among rows of pink azaleas. Both plants seemed more interesting for the presence of the other.

Time To Care For School Properties Is During Summer Months.

Many of the schools of the state have already closed for the present session and others will close within the next few weeks. A large number of the school buildings will be vacated for the summer months, and it is very important that trustees and citizens of each community see that these school buildings receive proper care during these months.

Mississippi has an investment of approximately fifty million dollars in school property and we cannot afford to be careless with this great investment. Each year during the summer months school property is damaged thousands of dollars because of lack of proper supervision and because of neglect.

The summer months also offer a good opportunity for beautification of the school grounds. The school should be more than just a place for pupils and teachers to meet during the school term and carry on the activities of the school. It should be a real community center and the pride of every person in the community.

We are insisting that the trustees and citizens of every community in the state make definite plans for the care and beautification of the school property during the summer, says Supt. of Education J. S. Vandiver. By doing this, you will be amply repaid not only in actual saving, but in a realization that you have had a part in making your school the real beauty spot of your community and a place which you will be proud for your neighbors to see.
